

Life's A Game
(Jarbo, Weiss, Acosta)
(BMI/ASCAP)
produced by Cymatiks

Intro:

Party people in the place to be put your cartridges in and ride with me now c'mon, c'mon, c'mon, c'mon, hey hey hey hey...

CHORUS:

Life's a game the game is life so put your chips in and roll the dice, oh!
The game is life so put your quarter in and get ready to play

The game is life and life's the game so come what may cause I came to play, c'mon Life's a game, the game is life, so throw your hands up high if you came to fight, come on!

Verse 1: Storyville

Man... they say I take games too serious cause I go and pick fights just for the experience And I battle and fight em' with magical items sneak into castles at night with potato pipe guns/they say it's devil worship...

Please, I say I'm level warpin'...
I say I'm eatin' raw mushrooms.... and then storming into the fortress/doesn't matter if I leave everything destroyed if I leave and come back everything will be restored and if I screw up bad I just self-sacrifice I noted the last moment where I'll come back to life/poor prognosis for terminal psychosis but I have hope cause my crystal collection's growin' besides, even stabbed, bludgeoned, beaten, battered I'll find an Inn and wake up like nothing even happened/

CHORUS

Verse 2: Mega Ran

they don't make em like me any more like cartridges arcades and video stores every thing i need to know i learned from gams, like bullets never run out, only grenades and if you see someone blinking off and on say your last words to them, they're about to be gone and come equipped when it's time to perform, you're invicible for 3 seconds when you respawn nice things are often found within other things so when you're in doubt just go and smash everything see some food on the ground scarf it down cause ninjas are common in these parts of town although they have shiny, fancy swords even if you defeat them they can't be yours when life gets tough and you're riddled with doubt everything has a pattern just figure it out, come on
